“At Dextra, my colleagues ask me the questions
... and they trust me to find the answers.”

International Company with great IT standards

After studying BA in Information Technology and MA in Computer Security, I started my career as IS Administrator in the IT department in February 2016. Before joining Dextra, I just graduated in the UK and I was seeking an international company with great IT standards that would allow me to get practical experience.

This was an amazing change for me. On campus, the professors asked me the questions BUT they already knew the answers. At Dextra, my colleagues ask me the questions ... and they trust me to find the answers.

High responsibility from the start

I have been working for Dextra Asia for over 2 years. During my first year, I had to focus on monitoring the system, automation and all of the software in order to avoid manual work, to reduce time and to maintain system availability. Second year until now, I have been given the chance to work on the ERP project onsite at Dextra Manufacturing – customizing its system. My area of expertise is Business Analysis, Software Analysis and Programming. I keep developing myself on new projects that are always in the pipeline: users' requests, new features for applications, etc.

I really appreciate that I can learn from my superiors about the protocols of a big company, such as global policy and IT procedures. Here is how I would describe my job: lot of responsibilities, fast paced environment, and fun!

I enjoy spending time with my colleagues outside of the office square!

Apart from my passion in IT, I love travelling a lot. I definitely like the company trips. Last year I joined 3 company trips: the annual outing with my colleagues in Krabi, the team building with our global IT team at Koh Samed and the budget meeting with management in Kanchanaburi. For me, it's not just a trip, it's a way of building great things together for relationships and work collaboration in a multi- culture and international environment. It's awesome and it shows us as one great team!

We are making global IT decisions from Bangkok

I would say that life at Dextra is unique: a French company globally headquartered in Bangkok! It has its own affiliate companies in several countries in Asia, Europe and America. It means we are making global IT decisions from Bangkok. Our IT is “Made in Thailand” with the highest international standards. This makes me live and learn in a unique work environment where I can apply my skills for business success.
